A company in Spokane, Wash., has developed a plant that releases text messages during the seven- to 10-day germination process that shows up on the plant's bud, according to a Local 6 News report.

The Amazing Message Plant was discovered by the president of Miracle Products and displays personalized words.

Local 6 News showed a plant with the message "I love you" on the bud.

"You can do all kinds of custom messages," Tony Berendes said. "The 'I love you' (plant) -- this is our initial launch but we're going to do kids' names and promotional opportunities."
